

2 Guys Diving Into the Female Mind

By Tristan Pipo and Mike England

I was thinking of this idea when I was trying to figure out how women work. Not something the average male can do but I thought I would take my best shot at trying to do so and bring some logic into a matter where I see little to zero logic.

Now I was thinking how do most men think. Well lets start with a simple question. That most people ask themselves on a daily basis. If you ask me a question lets say. Hey Tristan, Do you like to watch baseball on TV?

Most guys think in pretty much a simple format. Most answers are Yes, Maybe and No. As represented by this following little chart.

Yes	Maybe	No

To answer the question I would say No I don't like Baseball. We shall compare this to the female answer chart. Now lets say we ask my friend Andrea. Hey Do you like watching baseball in TV. She would mentally apply this chart to her answer.

Yes	Kinda	Maybe	Sorta	No

She responded with "Sorta depends if my boyfriend at the time likes it. So Eh Kinda Sorta No" My Male mind thinks What the hell there are 4 answers and to get to the final answer of No we have to go through three before that.

Me being the average guy would have just preferred to hear the word No and just move on from there without all the little details.